READ THESE INSTRUCTIONS FIRST

An answer booklet is provided inside this question paper. You should follow the instructions on the front cover of the answer booklet. If you need additional answer paper ask the invigilator for a continuation booklet.

This paper has two options.

Choose one option, and answer all of the questions on that topic.

Option A: 19th Century topic [p2–p8]

Option B: 20th Century topic [p10–p15]

The number of marks is given in brackets [ ] at the end of each question or part question.

The syllabus is approved for use in England, Wales and Northern Ireland as a Cambridge International Level 1/Level 2 Certificate.

This document consists of 14 printed pages, 2 blank pages and 1 Insert.

Option A: 19th Century topic*WHY DID BRITAIN AND GERMANY END UP FIGHTING EACH OTHER IN 1914?

Study the Background Information and the sources carefully, and then answer all the questions.

Background Information

Some historians agree that neither Britain nor Germany wanted to be at war with the other. However, in August 1914 they were. How did this happen? It has been argued that Britain did not make it clear that if Germany attacked France, Britain would come to France's aid. Others have argued that Germany was determined to dominate Europe at any cost.

Was it Germany or Britain that was to blame for war breaking out between them?

SOURCE A

The British were entirely unmoved by Serbia's impending fate, and acted only in response to the German violation of Belgian neutrality and the threat to France. More than a few people blame Sir Edward Grey for Britain's involvement. But, granted Germany's determination to dominate Europe and the likely consequences for Britain, would Grey have acted responsibly if he had taken no steps to avert such an outcome?

Today, as in 1914, any judgement about the necessity for British entry must be influenced by an assessment of the character of Kaiser William II's empire. Dominance was its purpose, achieved by peaceful means if possible, but by war if necessary. Moreover, throughout the July crisis the Germans, like the Austrians, consistently lied about their intentions and actions. By contrast, whatever the shortcomings of British conduct, the British government told the truth as it saw it, to both its allies and its prospective enemies.

The British government is often accused of having a foreign policy that was impossible for others to read between 1906 and 1914 and during the July crisis. While Britain made itself a party to the Triple Entente, uncertainty persisted about whether it would join a European war. Its only sensible course in the decade preceding the war, and indeed in July 1914, was to offer its allies goodwill and provisional support, the scope and nature of which depended on events and exact circumstances. The failure of this policy is self-evident; Britain's tentative approach to European commitments, and especially to the Entente, ended up involving it in history's greatest conflict. It nonetheless seems hard to conceive of any alternative policy which would have commanded political support in Britain, and persuaded Germany that the risk of war was unacceptable.

From a history book published in 2013.

SOURCE B

Important as the German violation of Belgium was, it did not cause the First World War. It may not even have brought Britain into it until the German attack on Liège. By failing to develop a clear policy, Sir Edward Grey missed his chance to scare Berlin into thinking that Britain might intervene until it was too late for the Germans to pull Austria back from the brink. Grey's misleading positive signals, including his bizarre neutrality pledges of 1 August, left the Germans guessing until he finally sent Berlin an ultimatum on 4 August. By pretending to be neutral, and yet clearly taking the Franco-Russian side, by failing to notice Russia's secret early mobilisation and yet denouncing Austria and Germany for 'marching towards war', Grey encouraged Russian and then French recklessness. Britain's role in unleashing the war was one born of blindness and blundering, not malice. We can say something similar about Germany's role, although with allowance for the much greater sin of invading Belgium. Germany's sin was not one of intending a world war - British hostility was the last thing anyone in Berlin wanted - but of mishandling the diplomacy. The prevailing opinion in London was that Germany had started the war. This argument is not supported by the evidence. France and Russia were far more eager to fight than was Germany. Nor was the assault on Liège the cause of this error. Far from 'willing the war', the Germans went into it kicking and screaming as the Austrian noose tightened round their necks.

European crisis.

I hope that the conversations between Austria and Russia may lead to a satisfactory result. The stumbling block has been Austrian mistrust of Serbian assurances, and Russian mistrust of Austrian intentions. It has occurred to me whether it would be possible for those countries not involved in the dispute to offer to Austria that they would undertake to see that it obtained its demands on Serbia provided it did not threaten Serbian sovereignty.

I said to the German Ambassador that if Germany could get a reasonable proposal put forward that made it clear that Germany and Austria were striving to preserve European peace, I would support it. Russia and France would be unreasonable if they rejected this proposal, and then Britain would have nothing more to do with the consequences. But if Germany did not make a reasonable proposal, and France became involved, we would be drawn in.

A telegram from Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary, to the British Ambassador in Berlin, 31 July 1914.

SOURCE D

For I no longer have any doubt that England, Russia and France have agreed among themselves—knowing that our treaty obligations compel us to support Austria-Hungary—to use the Austro-Serb conflict as a pretext for waging a war of annihilation against us. Our dilemma over keeping faith with the honourable Emperor of Russia has been exploited to create a situation which gives England the excuse it has been seeking to annihilate us with a false appearance of justice on the pretext that it is helping France and maintaining the well-known Balance of Power in Europe. In other words England is playing off all European states for her own benefit against us.

Marginal comments by William II on a telegram to him from the German ambassador to Russia, 31 July 1914. The telegram stated that the Russian government had said it could not reverse the mobilisation of its army.

On my arrival in London I had the conviction that under no circumstances had we to fear a British attack, but that under any circumstances England would protect the French. Looking back after two years, I come to the conclusion that there was no place for me in a system that only tolerated representatives who reported what their superiors wished to read. In spite of former mistakes, all might still have been put right in July 1914. We should have sent a representative to convince the Russians that we did not wish to strangle Serbia. Sazonov said to us, 'Drop Austria and we will drop the French.' We wanted neither wars nor alliances; we wanted only treaties that would safeguard us and others.

As soon as I got back to Berlin I saw that I was to be blamed for the catastrophe for which our Government was responsible by ignoring my advice and warnings. A report was circulated that I had allowed myself to be deceived by Sir Edward Grey. We encouraged Austria to attack Serbia. We rejected the British proposals of mediation. In view of these undeniable facts it is no wonder that the whole civilised world outside Germany places the entire responsibility for the world war upon our shoulders.

From a pamphlet written by Prince Lichnowsky in 1916. Lichnowsky was German ambassador to Britain, 1912–14. Sazonov was in charge of Russian foreign policy. The pamphlet circulated in Germany and was then published in the USA in 1917, leading to Lichnowsky's expulsion from the Prussian House of Lords.

Option B: 20th Century topic*WHY DID THE SOVIET UNION INTERVENE IN HUNGARY IN 1956?

Study the Background Information and the sources carefully, and then answer all the questions.

Background Information

1956 was an eventful year. In February Khrushchev announced his policy of de-Stalinisation, in June riots began in Poland and on 29 October fighting started along the Suez Canal. News of the riots in Poland spread to Hungary where, on 23 October, people took to the streets demanding that Imre Nagy replace the unpopular Ernő Gerő. Khrushchev agreed but riots continued. On 30 October the Soviets decided to withdraw their troops. Nagy began to plan sharing power with non-Communist groups and on 1 November announced that Hungary would leave the Warsaw Pact. On 1 November the Soviets decided to invade Hungary.

Why did the Soviets decide to use force in November 1956? Was it simply to regain control over Hungary, were they worried about unrest spreading to the rest of Eastern Europe, or did they act because of events in Suez?

SOURCE B

The course of the events has shown that the working people of Hungary correctly raise the question of the necessity of eliminating serious shortcomings in the field of economic building, the further raising of the living standards of the population, and the struggle against bureaucratic excesses in the state apparatus.

However, this just and progressive movement of the working people was soon joined by forces of reaction and counter-revolution, which are trying to take advantage of the discontent of part of the working people to undermine the foundations of the people's democratic order in Hungary and to restore the old landlord and capitalist order.

The Soviet Government and all the Soviet people deeply regret that the development of events in Hungary has led to bloodshed. Originally, on the request of the Hungarian People's Government, the Soviet Government consented to the entry into Budapest of the Soviet Army units to assist the Hungarian People's Army and the Hungarian authorities to establish order in the city. Believing that the further presence of Soviet Army units in Hungary can serve as a cause for even greater deterioration of the situation, the Soviet Government has now given instructions to its military command to withdraw the Soviet Army units from Budapest.

A public statement by the Soviet Government, 30 October 1956.

SOURCE C

The army should not be withdrawn from Hungary, and we must start an initiative to bring order to that country. Our party would not understand it if we gave Hungary, as well as Egypt, to the imperialists. If we leave Hungary it will encourage the American, English and French imperialists. They will see this as weakness on our part and go onto the offensive. We have no other choice. We want to meet the Hungarians halfway but now there is no government. Now we should set up a Provisional Revolutionary Government, headed by Kadar.

SOURCE D

SOURCE E

The Soviet Union has always proceeded from the principle of the peaceful co-existence of countries with different social systems and with the great aim of preserving world peace. However, the enemies of socialism proceed with their actions to undermine the friendly relations between the peoples of the Soviet Union and the peoples of other countries and to frustrate the noble aims of peaceful co-existence on the basis of complete sovereignty and equality. This is confirmed by the actions of the counter-revolutionary forces in Hungary aimed at overthrowing the system of people's democracy and restoring fascism in the country. The patriots of people's Hungary, together with the units of the Soviet Army called in to assist the revolutionary workers' and peasants' Government, firmly barred the road to reaction and fascism in Hungary.

A broadcast by Marshal Zhukov, the Soviet Minister of Defence. It was broadcast by the official Soviet radio station, 7 November 1956.

SOURCE F

People in Hungary were absolutely against the Stalinist elements still in power; they asked for their removal and a turn to the road of democratisation. When the Hungarian delegation headed by Gerő returned to their country, Gerő found himself in a difficult position. He called those hundreds of thousands of demonstrators, who at that time were still demonstrating, a gang, and insulted almost the whole nation. Imagine how blind he was, what kind of a leader he was! At such a critical moment, when everything boils and when the whole nation is discontented, he dares to call that nation a gang, among whom a great number, and perhaps a majority, were communists and young people. This was enough to blow up the powder keg. Conflicts took place.

Gerő called in the Soviet army. It was a fatal mistake to call Soviet troops at the time when demonstrations were still going on. To call upon troops of another country to give lessons to the people of one's own country is a great mistake. This made the people even more furious and this is how a spontaneous uprising came about.

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2017 series for most Cambridge IGCSE®, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

This syllabus is approved for use in England, Wales and Northern Ireland as a Cambridge International Level 1/Level 2 Certificate.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS*Applying the Mark Scheme

- When marking a response the overall criterion to be considered should be – ‘How good is this response to this question?’
- The Level Descriptor should be used to decide the level into which the quality of the answer fits.
- Exhaustive lists of possible facts are not given in the mark scheme, as there is often a choice of factual knowledge that candidates may use.
- WHERE EXAMPLES OF RESPONSES ARE GIVEN, THESE ARE NOT PRESCRIPTIVE, BUT ARE INTENDED AS A GUIDE. It is not possible to cover every possible type of response within a levels of response mark scheme and examiners are expected to use their professional judgement at all times in ensuring that responses are placed in the correct level and given an appropriate mark within that level.
- Marking must be positive. Marks must not be deducted for inaccurate or irrelevant parts of answers. In itself, poor use of historical terminology, spelling, grammar or handwriting does not affect the mark. The overall quality of the answer to the question should be judged.
- If a candidate reaches a particular level, s/he must be rewarded with a mark within that level. It is not necessary to work through the levels.
- The full range of marks should be used. Do not be afraid to award full marks or no marks. Failure to do this will seriously affect the distribution of marks. Be prepared to reward candidates who show any level of understanding. The mark scheme starts from basic acceptable response. Where a band of marks is indicated for a level, these marks should be used with reference to the development of the answer within that level.

Assessment Objectives

- (a) recall, description
- (b) recall, explanation
- (c) recall, explanation and analysis

MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 50

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2017 series for most Cambridge IGCSE®, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2017 series for most Cambridge IGCSE®, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

Question	Answer	Marks
1	How important was the ‘race to the sea’ in the development of the trench system on the Western Front? Explain your answer. YES Following the German retreat after the Battle of the Marne, both sides tried to outflank each other to gain control of the war; led to both sides attempting to control the Channel ports to cut supplies off; various battles after Marne led to both sides digging and reinforcing defences; created a network of zigzagged trench lines over 400 miles long as both sides then raced to the Alps in attempt to outflank each other; by November 1914, a trench system was in place and a static defensive war ensued until 1918, etc. NO Failure of the Schlieffen Plan more important – failure to surround the French armies, arrival of BEF, Belgian resistance and quick mobilisation of Russian forces caused the Germans to dig-in; new weapons such as accurate artillery and machine guns allowed both sides to defend the trenches, ending war of movement – advantage with defender; lack of effective offensive military tactics meant the trenches were difficult to attack and led to huge casualties by the end of 1914, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
2	How significant were domestic problems in Germany as a reason for the Armistice in 1918? Explain your answer. YES British blockade of German ports led to food shortages, riots and mutinies by the end of 1918; the German Reichstag was starting to take a more active role in questioning the war effort between 1916–18: influence of liberals and socialists; war weariness – 1.75 million casualties in 1918 alone, many in Germany starting to turn against the war and the Kaiser; impact of Prince Max von Baden, a liberal monarchist, who approached Wilson for an armistice; Kaiser’s October Reforms transferred power from the elites to the Reichstag – composed of liberals and socialists; Kiel Mutiny and the setting up of soldiers’ and sailors’ Soviets; riots across Germany – German Revolution; abdication of Kaiser; Ebert appointed Chancellor and German Republic founded, etc. NO Other factors more significant – extent of German losses could not be recovered after Somme and Passchendale offensives; allied superiority in technology and equipment by 1918 – more guns, planes and tanks; failure of Ludendorff Offensive and Operation Michael led to open warfare and German reserves were used up; Allied tactics improved – creeping barrages and combined arms tactics; entry of USA into the war – recruited nearly 5 million men by the end of the war, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
3	How significant was the invasion of the Ruhr as a cause of instability in Weimar Germany to 1923? Explain your answer. YES  Reparation payments set at £6.6 billion in 1921 and led to a failure to pay in 1922 due to war debts; French and Belgian governments believed the Germans to be bluffing and invaded and occupied the Ruhr in January 1923; intended to seize coal and other resources to the value owed by the Germans; led to violence and shootings between German and French troops; 100 000 Germans expelled from the Ruhr – these had to be rehoused and fed; government revenue fell drastically as Ruhr was one of the main wealth-producing areas; Ebert ordered passive resistance and continued to pay those on strike by printing more money; led to hyperinflation – led to bartering and collapse of German currency; pensioners and savers lost everything, German economy nearly collapsed; led to Stresemann’s rescue plan which infuriated nationalists – Nazi Beer Hall Putsch, etc. NO  Not significant as instability was brought under control by Stresemann – passive resistance ended; Rentenmark introduced and ended hyperinflation; other factors more significant – social, political and economic instability at the end of the First World War; impact of Treaty of Versailles led to resentment – military, territorial terms and War Guilt; growth in right-wing opposition such as Kapp Putsch; left-wing extremism – communist rebellions in Bavaria and the Ruhr; Weimar Constitution was weak – proportional representation and Article 48, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
4	How important was the fear of communism as a reason for Nazi success by 1933? Explain your answer. YES            1932 elections: Communist Party had won 17% of the popular vote and had 100 seats in the Reichstag; Depression had meant many workers had turned to left-wing extremist parties; Communists argued that capitalist system in Germany was the root of the problem; Russia from 1917 saw Communists in control; many amongst the established elites and middle-classes saw the possibility of a similar communist revolution in Germany as a real threat; Nazis propagated themselves as defenders of the established order and promised to crush the Communist Party; Nazi propaganda portrayed the Communists as scheming revolutionaries in league with Jewish interests; gained financial backing from industrialists; 'negative' cohesion; Nazis demonstrated their ability to deal with the Communists using the SA to violently break up meetings; many saw the Nazis as the last line of defence against a communist seizure of power; (allow Feb. 1933 Reichstag Fire and emergency powers) etc. NO            Other factors more important to Nazi success – Depression had left 6 million unemployed by 1932 and the Nazis promised to create a strong government with a strong leader to solve this problem; democracy seen as weak with weak, ineffectual coalition governments that failed to deal with the problems; Hindenburg was already ruling by decree, democracy effectively already dead; Nazi propaganda machine highly effective; Hitler used speeches and rallies to spread Nazi messages and demonstrate their strength and discipline; Hitler flew by plane around the country to increase support; political manoeuvring by von Papen to get revenge on Schleicher; persuaded Hindenburg to appoint Hitler Chancellor and control him with a Conservative coalition; March elections; Enabling Act; concordat with Catholic Church; (allow reference to Munich Putsch only in relation to Hitler's change in tactics) etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
5	How significant were the events of Bloody Sunday as a cause of the weakness of the Tsarist regime before 1914? Explain your answer. YES 22 January 1905, Father Gapon led a peaceful demonstration of 200 000 men, women and children to the Winter Palace calling for reform and an end to the Russo-Japanese War; they aimed to deliver a petition to Tsar Nicholas II but were fired upon by the police and troops, killing 96 (officially) but other estimates put this as high as 4000; sparked off the 1905 Revolution; people lost confidence in the Tsar as 'Little Father'; rioting and rebellion spontaneously erupted across the Russian Empire; peasants attacked property of the nobility; strikes by workers all over the country – 400 000 on strike by the end of January 1905; universities closed down; establishment of Union of Unions by professionals; railways stopped working due to strikes, etc. NO Tsar agreed to October Manifesto which allowed limited democracy and a State Duma; political parties and trade unions and freedoms of speech and conscience established which appeased liberals and middle-classes; on return of the Army from Japan, the Tsar issued the Fundamental Laws (1906) re-establishing autocracy; arrests of key Petrograd Soviet members including Trotsky; more significant on the stability of Tsarism were poor living and working conditions leading to a growth in radical opposition; demands for political representation from middle-class and workers; land issue not solved; Russo-Japanese War; establishment of Petrograd Soviet; mutiny on the Potemkin, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
6	How important were the actions of Nicholas II as a cause of the March Revolution of 1917? Explain your answer. YES September 1915 Tsar Nicholas assumes supreme command of the Russian Army – this linked the military failures on the Eastern Front directly to the Tsar; Tsarist government begins to lose support; Russia had lost 1.7 million soldiers by 1915 with a further 3 million captured or missing – led to a decline in morale and patriotism; Tsarina left in charge of Russian government – she is unpopular due to her German heritage and her insistence on listening to Rasputin for advice on government ministers – led to rumours that they were both in league with the Germans; refusal of Tsar Nicholas II to reform government and autocracy in favour of constitutional monarchy, etc. NO Other factors more important – First World War led to food shortages and bread rationing in Russia; inflation led to workers' strikes; poor living and working conditions – low wages; problems in the countryside led to mutinies by peasant soldiers; land issue not solved; growth in liberal and socialist opposition – united front against Tsarist autocracy; Duma refused to follow Tsar's orders and created a Provisional Government, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
7	How significant were mass-produced goods in changing the lives of women in the 1920s? Explain your answer. YES Car led to increased freedom for some women and allowed travel to place of work and visits to towns and cities (entertainment); Model T Ford in new colours to sell to women; new electrical appliances increased leisure time for women to either find work, engage in leisure activities, etc.; allow reference to clothing and fashion here – use of advertising by manufacturers and catalogues; radio allowed women to listen to new music such as jazz and sports; could mention new job opportunities in factories that mass produced goods, etc. NO New mass-produced goods only really available to wealthier families rather than poorer rural families, so not all women shared in the changes; more significant – gaining the vote in 1920 brought political freedom to some and greater participation; impact of entertainment such as the cinema introduced new icons to women; ‘flapper’ girl popularised in film, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
8	How important was the Second New Deal in dealing with the effects of the Depression? Explain your answer. YES Second New Deal focused on helping the victims of Depression and creating a fairer society in America; Wagner Act, 1935 allowed workers to join trade unions and bargain with employers; Social Security Act, 1935 helped provide pensions for the elderly, unemployment benefit and help for the sick and disabled; WPA addressed continued unemployment by providing work on schools, hospitals and highways; Resettlement Administration helped resettle farmers who had been affected by the Dust Bowl – later the Farm Security Administration provided loans to farmers and set up work camps for migrant workers, etc. NO New Deal faced critics from the Republican Party and big business who viewed government intervention as socialist and anti-American; faced opposition for allowing trade unions; radical opponents such as Dr Francis Townsend and Huey Long criticised the Second New Deal as too moderate and proposed more radical solutions; First Hundred Days more important than Second New Deal – Emergency Banking Act, CCC and PWA provided millions of jobs until 1939; FERA spent $500 million helping the poor; TVA most successful agency; Second World War, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
9	How significant was the Second World War as a reason for the downfall of the Nationalist government? Explain your answer. YES KMT viewed the Communists as a greater threat than the Japanese during the Second World War and so did not focus their efforts on the foreign invaders; Nationalist government became more unpopular with the people, especially the peasants; the Nationalist government was seen to waste foreign funds from Britain, France and the USA – many viewed the Nationalists as corrupt with generals hoarding weapons and money – $750 million saw ‘no visible results’ according to Truman; KMT seemed reluctant to engage Japanese invaders and adopted defensive strategies against the will of China’s allies and the Chinese population; Communists saw more success and gained more popularity with guerrilla style tactics against the Japanese; Communists focused on rural areas and gained support of peasants, etc. NO More important factors – Long March had seen the Communist Party united behind Mao’s leadership; Party delivered effective propaganda and gained support of many peasants by travelling through rural China; Mao made the CCP a party of the people with the Yen’an settlement used to indoctrinate people in Communist ideology – Maoism; Yen’an gained national and international interest with many visitors and helped boost membership of the CCP; Civil War saw Communists continue guerrilla warfare tactics effectively against the KMT and gained further support from the peasants, China’s largest social class; many KMT troops left the Nationalists and joined the CCP; USA withdrew funding to Nationalist government; Communists captured Shanghai and controlled key strategic points in China and forced KMT to flee by 1949, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
10	How important was the death of Mao to communism in China? Explain your answer. YES Mao and Maoist ideology very much the focus for the CCP since the 1930s; led to internal fighting in the CCP and the rise of the reformer Deng Xiaoping by 1981; removal of the position of Chairman in the CCP to distance itself from Mao’s dictatorship; ended the excesses of Mao’s dictatorship such as the cult of personality and deification of Mao in propaganda to an extent; led to improved foreign relations – Hong Kong returned in 1997 and Macau in 1999; entry into World Trade Organisation, etc. NO Maoist thought and ideology very much ingrained in China and in the CCP; one-party dictatorship remained – propaganda, censorship, state control, etc.; Mao had already improved relations with the West – Chinese-American trade deal in 1972; bloody suppression of demonstrations such as Tiananmen Square; China already a nuclear superpower, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
11	How important were the weaknesses of the United Party in the result of the 1948 elections? Explain your answer. YES By 1948, Jan Smuts was 78 and widely regarded as out of touch by many white South Africans; regarded with suspicion for his support of equal human rights and liberty in the Charter of the United Nations drawn up after WWII; United Party accepted that black South Africans were in the cities and towns to stay; many in the United Party promoted more integration and viewed segregation as impractical; many Afrikaners became disillusioned with United Party's racial policies, etc. NO More important – the growth of Afrikaner nationalism after WWII; Nationalist Party embodied the racial ideas of many Afrikaners; publication of De Burger and the programme set out by the secret Broederbond society promoted Afrikaner interests and identity; Dutch Reformed Church preached that Afrikaners were a chosen people destined to rule over black people and non-whites; WWII had led to industrial expansion and increased black employment while white people fought in the war – increased by 70%; led to migration of black people to towns and cities and growth of squatter camps – led to government relaxing Pass Laws; some black people demanded further concessions and many whites appalled by this situation, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
12	How significant were the Soweto riots in increasing opposition to white minority rule? Explain your answer. YES Soweto was a black township outside Johannesburg and many of the young population had been inspired by Steve Biko's Black Consciousness movement; 16 June 1976, thousands of black pupils and students protested at the latest government instruction to teach half their subjects in Afrikaans which was regarded as the language of repression and white supremacy; the riots and protests spread nationwide after the police shot dead a 13 year old African boy and then responded further with tear gas and more gunfire; estimates put the number killed at 575 with 134 under 18 years of age; news of the violence spread worldwide and led to international condemnation and outrage at the inhumanity and brutality of the apartheid regime; immediate falls in gold and diamond share prices as investors took flight; resistance to apartheid immediately became more international and many black South Africans went to neighbouring countries to train as resistance fighters, etc. NO More significant factors – ANC led by Mandela and Tambo was the leading anti-apartheid organisation; Youth League and Programme of Action in 1950; Defiance Campaign in 1952 – peaceful protest; Freedom Charter and Treason Trial; PAC in 1960 began a national anti-Pass Law campaign; Sharpeville Massacre led to national demonstrations; role of Botha's reforms; de Klerk's role in ending apartheid; religious leaders such as Tutu; international opposition from UN; sanctions and boycotts, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
13	How important were the experiences of Jews during the Second World War as a reason for the Israeli victory in 1949? Explain your answer. YES Jewish settlers in Palestine believed that Britain had to be supported in defeating Germany; Haganah provided military assistance to the British – they gained access to weapons and military training; they also gained experience in hunting down Jewish terrorists who assassinated Lord Moyne, the British Resident Minister in 1944; 20 000 Palestinian Jews enlisted in the British Army giving them access to modern military strategy that they could use against the Arab states; Holocaust gave many Israelis the determination to protect what had been fought for in 1945–48; received financial aid from America, etc. NO USA supported Israelis and boosted morale; continued financial support from European and American Jews after the war; guerrilla campaign against the British by Haganah and Irgun gave Israeli military a wide variety of tactics against Arab states; Israeli Army better equipped and armed than Arabs; military leadership was better; Arab forces inexperienced and poorly led; poor communication; outnumbered by Israeli Army, etc.	40

Question	Answer	Marks
14	How significant was the Suez Canal as a cause of war between Israel and Egypt? Explain your answer. YES 1956 war focused on Egyptian attempts to nationalise the Suez Canal which would remove British and French influence; led to Israel, Britain and France secretly planning to invade Egypt to regain control of the Canal for trade routes into the Indian Ocean; 1967 war saw the Israelis launch a pre-emptive attack on Egypt (which had retained control of the Suez Canal), Syria and Jordan; Suez Canal became the front line between Israeli and Egyptian forces after 1967 – both sides set up defences that were permanently guarded; Soviet SAM launchers installed behind Egyptian lines; Suez Canal was used as the base of surprise attack in Yom Kippur War in 1973, etc. NO Other significant factors – context of Cold War – Egypt became an ally of USSR and Syria, while the USA supported Israel; both sides gave money and weapons to support their interests in the Middle East; Nasser and Egyptian nationalism; Egyptian presence in the Sinai; Palestinian support from Arab countries and increased Palestinian raids into Israel; creation of PLO from Fatah and other resistance groups led to a ‘united’ front against Israel; control of territory, particularly the Sinai peninsula; religion, etc.	40
